

The Zutons Abi Harding's special sax appeal!

Just a day before they departed for Japan on the latest leg of their world tour, the famous UK Indie band THE ZUTONS saxophonist Abi Harding was back in Liverpool to collect her new custom-made saxophone.

Wavertree-raised Abi, who also sings backing vocals with the indie band the Zutons, picked up her Trevor James Signature Custom tenor saxophone at a special presentation at her local Liverpool music shop.

Abi already plays a Trevor James baritone, alto and tenor saxophones with the band. She really wanted another Signature Custom, this time an unlacquered version engraved with her own personal design, including her special school 'name' inside the lip of the bell!"

This particular Signature Custom was built at the Trevor James Lenham workshops in July by technical manager David Farley.

Abi was absolutely delighted with the end result and couldn't put the saxophone down. "I've played on my original Trevor James 'Horn' saxophone for years. They play absolutely wonderfully and have a fantastic sound....I am so made up to play this stunning instrument"

During the presentation she signed two Trevor James Horn 'Classic' alto saxophones and took two more away with her for all the members of 'The Zutons' to sign and draw over. One of these will be auctioned off with the proceeds going to Abi's favorite cause – the Alder Hey Children's Hospital in Liverpool. The other will come back to Lenham with its final worthy destination as yet unknown!
